

Dorothy Pomerantz, Forbes Staff

I write about Hollywood and run the Celebrity 100 List.

BUSINESS 10/31/2012 @ 2:08PM

Celebrities Who Give Us Nightmares

Reality show fame can be lucrative (just look at Bethenny Frankel) but it can also go horribly wrong. Spencer Pratt made a splash with his villainous performance on The Hills, but since then his career hasn't work out quite like he had hoped. Instead of writing books, starting a fashion line and producing more TV, Pratt ended up standing by Heidi Montag's side while she underwent multiple plastic surgeries to turn herself into the world's saddest living Barbie doll.

Perhaps that's why the public sees Pratt as the creepiest celebrity out there, according to E-Poll Market Research. E-Poll's E-Score Celebrity service ranks more than 6,000 celebrities on public awareness, appeal and 46 different personality attributes. When asked to rate Pratt, 49% of survey respondents said they found him creepy.

Another reality star who creeps us all out: Courtney Stodden. The teen is best-known for marrying 50-year-old actor Doug Hutchinson when she was only 16. Somehow, these two are still getting publicity. Maybe it's because of the way Stodden dresses. Or maybe it's her interview face. Stodden and Hutchinson are currently crazying it up on VH1's Couple's Therapy. Fans find it hard to turn away from the Stodden train wreck but 37% of survey respondents said Stodden is creepy, ranking her sixth on our list of the creepiest celebrities.

Donald Trump doesn't rank on our creepy list, but he likes to surround himself with creepy types who make for good reality TV. Two of the "stars" returning to The Celebrity Apprentice for an all-star season make our list: Gary Busey (third place) and Dennis Rodman (ninth). Busey was one of the most entertaining cast members in his season on Apprentice, with his explosive personality and apparently addled brain providing comedy. Unsurprisingly, he didn't win. Maybe this time around.

Just in time for Halloween, here are the celebrities who creep America out the most, based on survey data from E-Poll Market Research, whose E-Score Celebrity service ranks more than 6,000 celebrities on awareness, appeal and 46 different personality attributes. Its survey results show that in Hollywood, no one is as scary as reality show stars.

The 10 Celebrities Who Give Us Nightmares

1 Spencer Pratt

Creepy rating: 49%

Maybe the reason no one cares very much about Hills villain Spencer Pratt anymore is that he's just gotten too creepy. Pratt's reality show fame is far behind him at this point.

2 Michael Lohan

Creepy rating: 47%

A mug shot is never helpful for getting people to like you. Lindsay Lohan's father can't seem to stay out of trouble. He's being sued by boxing promoter Damon Feldman, who says Lohan owes him money.

3 Nadya Suleman

Creepy rating: 41%

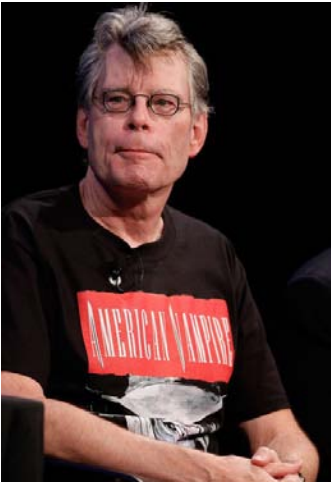

Suleman got famous for giving birth to eight babies at once, but it didn't turn out to be the lucrative business she was hoping for. The mother of 14 recently checked herself into rehab.

4 Gary Busey

Creepy rating: 41%

He's not too creepy for Donald Trump. The mogul just announced Busey will be back for an all-star version of Celebrity Apprentice.

5 Stephen King

Creepy rating: 40%

King himself isn't that creepy, but he knows how to give people the creeps. His horror stories like Carrie and The Shining are perfect Halloween reading.

6 Courtney Stodden

Creepy rating: 37%

Few things are creepier than watching Stodden, 18, make out with her 52-year-old husband Doug Hutchison. But now you can get your creep on weekly. The couple is currently on VH1's Couple's Therapy.

7 Ozzy Osbourne

Creepy rating: 34%

If you call yourself the Prince of Darkness people are bound to find you creepy. Biting bat heads doesn't help. But in recent years, Osbourne has become better known for being a doting father than a heavy metal maniac.

8 Michelle 'Bombshell' McGee

Creepy rating: 34%

Extreme tattoos can be creepy looking but McGee is really best known for helping to break up Sandra Bullock and Jesse James' marriage. And then there were those Nazi photos ...

9 Denis Rodman

Creepy rating: 33%

Donald Trump doesn't make our list but he's clearly attracted to creepy people. Like Busey, Rodman is returning to The Celebrity Apprentice for an all-star version.

10 Mike 'The Situation' Sorrentino

Creepy factor: 33%

What makes The Situation creepier than his Jersey Shore costars? Maybe it's the fact that he's older than the rest of the gang or maybe it's just that he gets more publicity.